

P. O. INSPECTORS DUE IN STEWARD; PROBE ROBBERY

Postmaster Wm. Kirby's
Check Reveals No
Stamps Taken

Federal postal inspectors from Chicago were due to arrive in Steward today to investigate the blowing of the safe in the postoffice there at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. During their investigation it is expected that several residents of the village will be questioned. Following the discovery of the safe blowing early yesterday morning, citizens of Steward revealed the presence in the village Sunday of four men in a sedan. According to reports, three of the men were foreigners and the fourth, a massive individual. They were presumed to have come to Steward for a Chicago suburb for the purpose of hunting, but reports indicated that the greater part of the day was spent drinking and that they slept in their car on the main street of the village practically all of Sunday afternoon and early evening.

Postmaster Thomas Kirby had almost completed his checkup of postal equipment late yesterday afternoon. While it was first believed that the safe cracks had taken several sheets of postage stamps, it developed that the stock of stamps had not been molested, other than being damaged slightly in the double explosion of the safe. About $30 in pennies, nickels and dimes, several notes and private papers, the property of Postmaster Kirby, and a mail sack were taken from the postoffice.

Used Railway Equipment
Railway equipment is believed to have been used in forcing an entrance to the building and some of it was left scattered about on the floor. Examination revealed that the handler wore gloves but no finger evidence was left. The investigation was being handled by Sheriff Ward Miller and Chief Deputy Sheriff Ward Miller was able to obtain a finger print from this. Two springs from brake shoes on a freight car in the railroad yards at Steward were removed and were used in forcing the front door.

A citizen who heard both blasts of nitro-glycerine which wrecked the safe, believed them to be the back fire of an automobile. He was awakened, however, and after the second blast, looked at his alarm clock. It was ten minutes past two o'clock. The first explosion took place about 15 minutes earlier, it was stated.

The safe, which was the property of Postmaster Kirby, was badly wrecked, the doors being demolished. He was extremely fortunate, however, in having recovered a fold containing quite a sum of money and valuable papers, which was missed by the yeggs and was partially covered by the debris.

A sedan was observed to have been parked near the railway crossing at the east part of town, and within a very short time after the second explosion the car sped east at a high rate of speed, traveling in the direction of Aurora.

Members of the sheriff's force who were the first to investigate the safe blowing, entertained the belief that some of the yeggs may have been injured in the second explosion which blew pieces of the safe to all parts of the building.

Rock Island Girls Threatened in Note: Police Investigate

Rock Island, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Police and postal authorities today renewed a search for a man they said they believed was a crank, following the receipt of a second anonymous letter threatening the daughters of a young woman employee of Prof. and Mrs. William E. Cederberg.

The note read: "The cops won't help none, we want one of them girls and we get one."

The girls threatened in the letter, the second in the last several days, are Rita, 6, and Enid, 2, and Miss Mildred Holm, 18, who is employed in the household.

Freighter, Fire in Hold, Making Port

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The 5,000-ton freighter Point San Pedro, is No. 1 hold averted, by a fire in the hold, disabled limped toward Portland from off the Oregon coast today.

The fire which blazed for two hours last night was reported under control at 1:01 A. M. and the freighter notified Coast Guard cutters rushing to its aid that it was proceeding by hand steering gear. The Point San Pedro, owned by the McCormick Steamship Company, left here Saturday night for Portland. It carries a crew of about 30 men. No passengers are aboard.

STILL HAS HIS SHOES
Oklahoma City, Okla.—(AP)—Clifford Summers of Rock Island, Ill., told police he got into a card game with a friendly stranger and lost a wrist watch, suitcase, three shirts, a pair of pants, several pairs of socks, a handkerchief and a bar of soap.

WEST END PAVE- MENT WILL SOON BE THROWN OPEN

City Council Sets Aside $2,450 to Apply to Contract

Contractors have completed pouring cement on the several blocks on Lincoln avenue and Fourth street, nearing the completion of one of the most notable improvements in the west end section of the city in several years, it was reported. The new paving is now open to traffic on Lincoln Avenue from Third to Fourth streets and on Fourth street to the city limits. Grading operations are nearing completion upon this section of the improvement and will be completed within a few days. The paving from Fourth street south on Lincoln avenue to the city limits is still closed to traffic but will probably be opened the latter part of this week. Grading operations and the construction of shoulders are being carried on along this section. The weather has been ideal for the completion of the project despite the fact that the contractor was delayed for several days at the outset.

A resolution was adopted by the members of the city commission last evening setting aside the sum of $2,450.94 of the city's share of the gas tax refund to be used in the payment for the Fourth street paving improvement.

Another resolution covering the improvement of Fifth street from Highland to Crawford avenues, and empowering Commissioner John Loftis to use work relief on the project was adopted by the council. It was explained that through the use of work relief labor on this project that the improvement could be installed without cost to the property owners.

A special meeting of the board of local improvements of the council will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the city council chambers.

HARRY PIERPONT WILL SIT DOWN TO DEATH SOON

"Hard Guy" of Dillinger
Mob Goes to the Chair Tomorrow

Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Harry Pierpont's last hope of escaping the electric chair was blasted today when Governor George White refused him executive clemency.

The Dillinger gangster had appealed for commutation of the death sentence imposed upon him for the killing of Sheriff Jess Sarber, at Lima, O., when John Dillinger, then held as a bank robbery suspect, was freed a year ago.

In a terse statement the governor said "I see no justifiable reason to extend executive clemency." Pierpont will be executed tomorrow.

Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Chestnut haired Harry Pierpont tomorrow will sit down to his death in a squat little building nestled in a high-walled corner of Ohio penitentiary stocks.

Lanky, lean-bawled and aridonic, Pierpont—a "hard guy" who has been termed the actual leader of the bloody crew once called Dillinger's—sometime between the next two midnights will be summoned from his cell in double-guarded death row and will be told:

"It's time to go."

Warden Preston E. Thomas, charged with the responsibility of seeing that Pierpont pays with his own life for killing Sheriff Jess Sarber at Lima, O., one year and three days ago, has said he will not make known the hour of Pierpont's execution.

Alleged Killer of Policeman Escapes

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Walter Miska, scheduled to go on trial tomorrow for the slaying of Policeman William Wilson, escaped today from the county prison.

Prison officials said Miska scaled the wall surrounding the prison this morning, leaped to the street and disappeared.

Wilson was shot to death September 3 by several men who costed him as he was about to enter a bank with the receipts of a motion picture theater.

Miska was arrested in a Yonkers, N. Y., hotel room two weeks later. Several other men also were arrested.

DESTRUCTION OF MOTOR'S TRUCK BRINGS ARREST

John Camery, 31, Is Held by Police for State
Parole Officer

John R. Camery, aged 31, of this city, ex-convict, was taken in custody by Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber last night about 9 o'clock and is being held at the city jail awaiting the arrival of State Parole Officer Clyde Rorah of Kewanee. The arrest followed a complaint registered by Highway Commissioner James Devine last evening that a motor vehicle, a townsmobile, had been demolished and several valuable parts taken.

Chief Van Bibber and Commissioner Devine found the stolen parts at Camery's home in the west part of the city last night and he was immediately taken in custody. He was reported to have admitted breaking up the motor yesterday afternoon and taking parts which he planned to dispose of.

According to Chief Van Bibber's records, Camery has served several sentences. As a youth he was committed to the St. Charles Training school for boys from Dixon, from which he was paroled. Later he was sentenced to the state reformatory at Joliet, Ill., where he served a term. His next sentence was to the state reformatory at Anamosa, Iowa, where he was sentenced to serve from one to ten years for breaking and entering a wholesale grocery at Clinton, Iowa.

Paroled from Prison
About five years ago he was arrested at Franklin Grove by Sheriff Ward Miller, following an investigation into the robbery of the "Funding" grocery store at Nelson. On this occasion he was sentenced to the Joliet penitentiary for a period of from one year to life and was paroled about two years ago.

The truck which was a part of the Dixon township highway equipment, had been stored on a vacant lot in the southwest section of the city and yesterday afternoon the radiator was removed and the motor broken up. Commissioner Devine discovered the damage last evening and reported at once to Chief Van Bibber, who started the investigation which resulted in Camery's apprehension and the recovery of the stolen parts.

Parole Officer Rorah was notified at a late hour last night that Camery, who is still on parole, was in custody, and he is expected to come to Dixon Wednesday to investigate.

Government Agent Seeks to End Gas Price War in Egypt

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 16.—(AP)—A government intervention to end a gasoline war that resulted in slashed prices here and in Belleville, was expected today, climaxing an investigation by W. E. Gardner, agent for the department of interior.

Gardner spent yesterday holding secret hearings on the price war, in which low-cost operators were charged with selling gasoline below oil code prices.

The dispute started about 10 days ago when a tank car operator here cut 2 cents below the standard price, which was then 16.4 cents. At present the price has been cut to 9.9 cents in East St. Louis and 10.9 cents in Belleville.

Applaud Proposals for Auto Drivers License at Peoria

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Proposals for an auto drivers' license law were applauded at a luncheon meeting of 50 civic leaders sponsored by the Illinois conference on highway safety legislation.

Among measures discussed at the meeting yesterday was one to make automobile owners financially liable.

The safety responsibility law was described as a substitute for compulsory insurance, with suspension of a driver's license the penalty for negligence.

Aurora Man, Aged 99, to Visit Fair

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—An elaborate reception awaited Bert Wilder, 99, of Aurora, at the World's Fair today.

The first time he visited Chicago, Wilder only 2 then, in 1837, was traveling with his parents by ox team from New York state.

Wilder expressed a desire last August to visit the fair and arrangements were made.

Ethel E. Thompson, 22, obtained the annulment yesterday on the grounds she was intoxicated when she married Daniel, 21.

"The public officials involved in this case were apparently delinquent in their duty," the judge said. "The state law should be amended to require marrying people to file advance notice of intent."

Democratic Candidate For Congress From 13th Dist. Dead From Auto Injuries

Orestes H. Wright of Freeport Died at 8:45 This Morn

Orestes H. Wright, 59, of Freeport, Democratic nominee for congress from the 13th Illinois district, died at St. Anthony's hospital in Rockford at 8:45 A. M. today of injuries suffered Friday in an automobile collision.

Wright's car collided at the crossing of highways 70 and 72 near Davis Junction with the automobile of Miss Eda Mae Otto, 27, Rockford junior high school teacher. She is recovering.

A fractured skull and other injuries proved fatal to Wright.

Wright was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Wright, Freeport, Ill.

He attended Freeport high school but was prepared for the University of Michigan at Great Barrington, Mass., preparatory school. He was graduated in law at Michigan and returned to Freeport to be secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Defeated by Allen
Thirty years ago he was married to Miss Alice Dorman of Freeport, and she survives. Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. W. O. Wright, his daughter, Barbara, 25, an Indianapolis newspaper woman; a son, O. H. Wright Jr., 19, who is at home; a sister, Mrs. Alvin S. Lockard, of Indianapolis; and a brother, W. O. Wright Jr., of Rock Island, Ill.

Wright had occupied himself in the last few years with managing a farm at the edge of Freeport. Two years ago he ran against Leo E. Allen to represent the 13th district in congress, and was defeated.

No plans were made immediately to choose a successor to him on the ballot for the Nov. 6 election, and in the meantime printing of the ballots, almost completed in Lee and the other counties of the district has been stopped. They will have to be reprinted if the Democratic committees decided on a candidate.

MORRO CASTLE'S OFFICERS MUST ANSWER CHARGES

Called Before Steamboat Inspection
Board Oct. 29

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The board of inquiry of the United States steamboat service, in a report made public today, charged Captain Harold Hansen and four other officers of the Morro Castle with negligence in connection with the burning of the Ward Line liner and the attendant loss of 132 lives.

The preliminary report signed by Captain K. C. Nielsen and James Smith, inspectors of the New York district, gives no cause or responsibility for the fire. It was explained the board's duty ends with determining if the officers were negligent in the performance of their duty.

Officers charged with negligence in addition to Hansen are Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, Second Officer Clarence Hackney, Third Officer Harold Hansen and First Assistant Engineer Antonio R. Buija. They are ordered before a board Oct. 29 to show cause why their licenses should not be suspended or revoked.

Acting Chief Officer Ivan Freeman was the only deck officer who was found negligent in the report. Freeman, according to the testimony, the report says, fought the fire and later went forward and let go the anchor.

Lake Co. Officials Rebuke by Jurist for Easy Weddings

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Superior Judge Rudolph P. Desor, after annulling a marriage performed on New Year's Day in Waukegan, criticized Lake county officials and recommended an amendment of laws, so as to prevent weddings while one or both principals are under the influence of liquor.

Ethel E. Thompson, 22, obtained the annulment yesterday on the grounds she was intoxicated when she married Daniel, 21.

"The public officials involved in this case were apparently delinquent in their duty," the judge said. "The state law should be amended to require marrying people to file advance notice of intent."

Little Hope Remains for Mitzi, Fox Hound Imprisoned in a Cave

Greenville, Ind., Oct. 16.—(AP)—There isn't much hope for Mitzi, black and brown patched fox hound, imprisoned as Flo Collins was nine years ago, in a limestone cavern.

Scores of farmers came to help when word got around that Mitzi, after disappearing last Wednesday, had been discovered moultingly barking from the depths of a cave behind a hill-side spring.

It is believed Mitzi, chasing another animal into the spring crevice, dropped into a pit after squirming through the narrow opening.

Seven sticks of dynamite made little impression on the solid rock. Mitzi's barks are growing weaker.

FORMER DIXON PUBLISHER IS CALLED MONDAY

Gurton E. Bishop Died
Suddenly at Home
In Sterling

Gurton E. Bishop, former Dixon newspaper publisher, and of recent years proprietor of a large and successful printing establishment in Sterling, died suddenly at his home, 806 Locust street, Sterling, at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, death being caused by a heart attack. He had been in poor health for over a year, but his passing was quite unexpected.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and at St. John's Lutheran church at 2:30. Rev. Albert Keck officiating, and with entombment at the mausoleum at Riverside cemetery. Services at the cemetery will be in charge of Sterling lodge B. P. O. Elks of which he was a charter member and a Past Exalted Ruler.

Mr. Bishop, who had many friends in Dixon who will mourn his passing, was born in Owego, N. Y., June 13, 1862. His parents moved to Wisconsin in 1871 and it was there that he was apprenticed to one of the most successful printers in America, where he learned the trade.

Became Trooper
He studied music in his youth and from 1885 to 1887 he played with the W. W. Cole Shows' band, and later, until 1899 he owned and managed the United States Shows. He was widely known as a producer of amateur plays and as a sportsman, having been a starter in Grand Circuit races for years and later county fairs throughout the country, including Amboy, Morris, Sterling and others in this vicinity. At the time of his death he was the dean of starters of the American Trotting Assn., holding license No. 1.

Mr. Bishop is survived by his widow, one son, Earl, of Sterling; a sister, Mrs. Carl Rogers of Wisconsin; and a brother, James H. Bishop of Ladd, Ill.

3,000 Purple Orchids on Browning's Coffin

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Edward W. (Daddy) Browning went to the grave as he had wished with 3,000 purple orchids covering his coffin.

Victor Ross, attorney for the limelight-loving millionaire, said that employees of Browning's real estate firm had contributed $5,000 and scoured the city to get the flowers.

"He had the tender, sweet mind of a child," said the Rev. Edward Emmett over the coffin. "If there is a gardener in heaven, I hope he will keep Edward Browning supplied with orchids up there."

Mrs. Clarence Hood, whom Browning adopted when she was Dorothy Sunshine and Mrs. Adele Browning, his divorced first wife, went to the funeral. Frances Heen-Browning, the "Peaches" who may get a widows third of the estate, did not attend.

Teller of Sterling Bank Confesses Embezzling of $31

ADMITS KNOWING CHILD LIVED AS HE OPENED DOOR

But Furnace Murderer Denies Realizing
Burner In Use

Mount Vernon, N. Y., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Lawrence Stone admits knowing that 5-year-old Nancy Jean Costigan was alive when he threw her into an apartment house furnace, District Attorney Frank H. Coyne says, but he denies realizing that the huge oil burner was in use.

Announcing that Stone had confessed yesterday, Chief Inspector Michael I. Silverstein of the Mount Vernon police described the prisoner's assertion that the fire was out as one of several discrepancies in the statement. The 24-year-old laborer was quoted as saying the girl fell heavily while playing ball with him and that he, panic-stricken, dumped her in the furnace after she "turned blue."

Silverstein said he was trying to establish whether the child had been attacked. He said he had proof that the furnace was burning all day Sunday, when the girl was killed. Flames were leaping six feet high at the time her blackened bones were found.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Costigan of Fort Hills, the parents of the child, planned to leave today for Chicago, to bury Nancy Jean in the family plot of her maternal grandparents.

Hamilton Anderson, a New York attorney, notified police he had been retained to represent Stone by a "Mrs. Strong of New Milford, Conn." the young man's legal guardian.

RANSOM NOTES PROOF SUSPECT WAS IN JERSEY

Handwriting Expert's
Testimony Heard in Hauptmann Case

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Attorney General David T. Wientz of New Jersey told Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer that the Lindbergh ransom notes, which he claimed the state had proved were written by Bruno Richard Hauptmann, "are an admission and a confession" on the part of Hauptmann that he was in the baby's room the night of the kidnapping.

The attorney general's statement came after Albert D. Osborn, handwriting expert, testified with "reasonable certainty" that specimens of Hauptmann's handwriting were identical with that of the kidnap notes.

Wientz dramatically read excerpts from the ransom notes, including one which asked "why did you ignore our letter we left in your room." Another quotation was "now we will send you the sleeping suit from the baby" and a third asked "did you send the little package to Mr. Lindbergh? It contains the sleeping suit from the baby."

Fixed Similarities
James Fawcett, defense attorney, over objections of Wientz, asked the witness to pick out similarities between the penmanship of the ransom notes, and six motor vehicle applications.

Osborn studied the exhibits intently, and admitted to Fawcett that he had made no memoranda on his findings on his first examination of the notes.

"Tell the court," urged Fawcett, "on what your opinion is founded."

The witness, referring to a motor vehicle operator's renewal application, said:

"You ask about errors which would identify the writer. Well, here is the improper relation of the letters 'h' and 't'."

Characteristic Error
"This inversion of the letters is an error, characteristic of this writer."

"Often, he spells the word 'the' as 'hte'."

"Any other peculiarities?" Fawcett asked.

"Now in this exhibit," said Osborn, "he has spelled the word 'anything' as 'anyding'—a Germanic characteristic."

At least two persons are yet to testify that they saw a man resembling Hauptmann near Hopewell, N. J., where Charles Lindbergh, Jr., was murdered in 1932.

The alien carpenter's attorney planned to call rebuttal witnesses, but both sides expected to complete their cases before nightfall. They looked for a prompt ruling.

Denied Baby's Death
Matching the thunderous question of New Jersey's Attorney General, Hauptmann shouted his denial yesterday that he was the killer of the baby.

Major William Schmidt pointed to another angle. "Figure it out for yourself," he said. "Mrs. Stoll was sick and thin and it was the coldest night of the season, and she was struck. It looks bad."

New Theory Expressed
Police today expressed the theory that the abduction, dominated by another individual, either the tall blonde or a third person.

They recalled that the abduction was done with force and violence and ventured that a skilled kidnaper would never operate with such crudeness.

The ransom note has been described as the work of a highly intelligent person.

Published stories that the crime was perpetrated by persons antagonistic to the wealthy classes and struck at the Stolls as a blow against capitalism in general, drew no comment from Harold Nathan, field director of the federal angle.

End of Sovereignty of States Seen by
Sen. J. Ham Lewis

Columbus, O., (AP)—Sen. J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois asserted he sees an "end to the sovereignty of states" close at hand and the establishment of one "state of the union." He predicted the situation would result from the failure of states and political subdivisions to pay back to the Federal government money it has advanced, in the furtherance of relief.

C. Wayland Brooks, in his speeches over the state says: "The last Congress never came home. They are here in person but they left their power to make laws in Washington. They handed it over to one man and he in turn delegated it to others. The result is that no business man knows what he can do until he reads his morning paper and see what the NRA has decided will be the rules for the day. And meantime America is in confusion. It does not know what it can do." His comments on the unconstitutionality of the action of the last Congress brings many expressions of commendation from his audiences.

WORLD STILL REQUIRES SAFETY OF DEMOCRACY.

This troubled world may yet be forced to understand that it will have to make itself safe for democracy before it can carry on with the ordinary business of living.

Democracy has gone out of style since the war. That slogan that Woodrow Wilson handed out in war days has become something to laugh at—partly because the war no longer looks like the holy crusade we once thought it, and partly because democracy itself has shown more defects than we used to think it had.

But when all the shams and hypocries of the war are admitted and all the faults of democratic government are reviewed, it is still true that democracy does provide a safety valve which eases tensions and prevents the kind of explosions that have been tormenting Europe lately.

Historians are still arguing about what caused the World War, and the argument won't be settled for a long time to come. One thing, however, is very clear; a large part of the trouble was the ceaseless struggle of oppressed minorities to win their freedom.

This struggle centered in the old Austro-Hungarian empire, and it touched off the war. The finest thing Wilson ever did was to tell the whole world that freedom and self-determination must be the heritage of all peoples if a repetition of the holocaust was to be avoided.

But the post-war readjustments failed to reach this goal. Democracy was discarded. Croats, Austrians, Russians, Germans, Italians, one people after another, were forced into the strait-jacket of autocratic government. That priceless safety valve, the ballot box, was tossed out of the window.

The result? Violence and bloodshed. In country after country the secret police must go about smelling out plots and conspiracies. Prisons must be enlarged, executioners must be kept busy.

The dictators fear their own people and they fear one another. Riots and assassinations come in an ever-increasing crop; and each one disturbs an unstable equilibrium so dangerously that people catch their breath and wonder, "Will this start a new war?"

Maybe it's time to revive that old war slogan. A world that was safe for democracy would certainly have fewer danger spots than the one in which we are now living.

SHOULD WE TURN PRIMITIVE?

When Attila the Hun invaded Europe in 451 A. D. and murdered some 600,000 persons, he was stopped by a coalition of outraged Romans, Gauls and Germans who expended tremendous energy in winning the battle. With half a dozen modern machine guns, the allies could have won in a few moments, without losing a man. The other defenders would have been entirely unnecessary.

When the Mohammedan Saracens met Charles the Hammer at Tours it was to decide whether Christianity or Mohammedanism should prevail in Europe. The murderous Saracens had swept everything before them, killing, plundering and burning indiscriminately. Their theory was that the only good Christian was a dead one. Charles was not at all certain of victory, but he made what might have been the last stand of Christianity with courage admired ever since. With half a dozen machine guns he could have sent all his other helpers home and still have chased the raiders out of Europe.

When the Spanish armada attempted to invade England, the defenders fought valiantly, and, aided by a storm which disrupted the Spanish fleet, they won. A modern battleship could have sunk the entire armada without appearing above the horizon. Or it could have sunk all without firing a shot.

When Napoleon and Wellington grappled at Waterloo there were English, Belgians and Germans opposing the Frenchman. Facing the fiery Napoleon they all fought nobly, but it was Wellington's squares that saved the day. With heavy artillery Napoleon could have broken up the squares without being seen. Or six machine guns under Wellington could have broken up the battle before dinner. There are guns now in existence that can fire, at a single discharge, more energy than was expended in the whole Waterloo struggle.

Tanks, artillery, battleships, poison gas, airplanes and machine guns are not common to America alone. They are in use by every power. Yet there are some minds that believe the United States, by abolishing its armaments, could dodge war. In other words, they would add to the slaughter by leaving us barbarous weapons to oppose modern ones.

What we need is not less defense, but more of it.

The cake the bakers had spread out was hard to roll, without a doubt. One of them said, "Don't worry, it will soon be nice and round."

Then Doty shouted, "Goodness sake! Are we supposed to eat that cake? It's bound to be all dirty 'cause it's spread upon the ground."

"If we had planned to have you eat it, we'd have been much more discreet," replied one little baker. "We have other plans in mind."

"Just wait until it's rolled up tight. Then everything will be all right. We're leading to some fun for you, as you will shortly find."

Soon Doty said, "Let's show some speed. Some help from me is what you need. I'm strong, and I can roll that cake before you can say boo!"

And then he joined the bakers in their task, and soon one cried, "You win! The cake is rolled up dandy, lad. Three hearty cheers for you!"

"Now, what?" asked Doty, with a smile. A baker answered, "Wait a while. We'll have to cook some doughnuts ere we carry out our plan."

"A big dough board is right nearby. We'll mix the dough, then you can try to cut the great big doughnuts." To the board the whole bunch ran.

The dough was mixed and spread out flat. Soon Doty shouted, "Look at that! I've cut a lot of doughnuts. We are set to cook them, now."

"Okay," cried Doty, "come with me. A pot of boiling fat I see, I'll help the bakers do the cooking, if they'll show me how."

"Oh, no! You Tines sit right down, and watch us cook them nice and brown," replied one of the bakers. "We have done this work before."

"Course, teaching you would be real fun, but we would never get them done. You will be glad we hurried when you find what is in store."

(The Tines get the big surprise in the next story.)

AT WIT'S END

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"Here I am at the end of my wits," writes a reader; "and it is the loneliest spot on earth. What can one do when there is nothing one can do. Just wait and see? Can the past ever be undone?"

It is a pitiful story, as he tells it, involving a wrong and injury which he would give much to be able to undo. If his facts are accurate, one hardly knows what he can do about it, except to wait. But all depends on how we wait and which way we are looking.

A famous poem, years ago, was called "Wits' End Corner," and it was written by a woman who was up against it, knowing not which way to go or what to do. But it turned out to be a corner, not a blind alley, and she made a song out of it which she passed on to us.

And her philosophy may be called the corner philosophy; the faith that we shall find what we have lost or longed for if we go on. All that we have wanted waits for us farther up the road, round the corner, just out of sight, if we do not sit down and give up.

In the meantime—and it is a mean time—it is futile to undo ourselves by brooding over what cannot be undone. It mortgages our whole future, and we do not see aright what might be done. No man has a right to condemn his life to futility; it is not entirely his own. Why, then, chain a living opportunity to a dead blunder?

Too much self-reproach for things we cannot undo renders us unfit to do our best with what is

EXPERIMENTS ON MAN

In the last analysis, to prove its value for man, every curative or preventive measure must be tried on man.

But before that may come many tentative, analysis, most of which must be tried on animals. Most, but not all.

Why? Mainly for two reasons: first, because not all findings in animal experiments can be transported, so to say, into the world of humans, and secondly, because there is not always available an experimental animal suitable for the disease or condition to be studied.

One famous instance of the second condition is to be seen in the experimentation on himself conducted by the famous English scientist and physician, John Hunter (born 1728, died 1793). Hunter was deeply interested in the manner of the development of the disease syphilis. At that time man was the only animal known to develop it. (Since then experimental animals, e. g. the rabbit, have been found from the sick to the healthy to experiment on man—that is, on himself. He inoculated himself with the virus of syphilis and noted developments.)

Trench fever can be taken as another example of the value of human experimentation. So far as is known, man is the only animal subject to it. To determine how the disease spreads, human beings had to be used. It was suspected that as in the case of typhus, lice were the parasites which carry the infection from the sick to the well.

Two men, W. H. Cole and H. H. Edgeler, volunteered to allow lice taken from the bodies of trench fever patients to feed upon them. The experiment was conducted for many weeks but nothing happened. Then it was observed that the human guinea pigs did not scratch where the lice bit.

A third volunteer, Dr. Sullivan, came forward and he did scratch, and the mystery was solved, for he promptly developed trench fever.

A note warning the parents to

DO YOU GET UP NIGHTS?

ARE YOU OVER 40?

If so, nature is warning you of danger ahead. Get rid of your trouble early. Make this 25c test. Get Juniper oil, Buchu leaves, etc., in green tablets. Ask for BUK-ETS, the bladder laxative. Take 12 of them in four days; if not pleased go back and get your money. BUKETS work on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Flushes out excess acids and other impurities which cause getting up nights, frequent desire, scanty flow, burning, backache or leg pains. Diagrams of Danger—No. 3

THE HIDDEN DANGER

No one is more active in the campaign to persuade the automobile driver to exercise the care, courtesy and common sense which will reduce the appalling number of accidents than Motor Vehicle Administrators. They know the facts. Ten of them, officers of National and Regional Associations, have described the most common driving and pedestrian faults.

By ORVILLE E. ATWOOD

Director, Motor Vehicle Division, Michigan. Vice-President, Region No. 3 of American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

THERE is nothing dangerous about an automobile properly parked at a curb, its motor silent and its brakes locked. So far as it is concerned that car could stand there until it fell apart and no casualty could be charged against it.

Yet, that same car is one of the most dangerous traps known in most of our cities. It is a deadly menace to the unwary pedestrian and a threat to the motorist himself. Death and injury surround it at all times. This is because heedless pedestrians at intersections will appear suddenly in the roadway from behind it, directly in the path of a moving automobile.

Last year, 35,000 pedestrians died that according to figures supplied by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. Of this number, 1,460 were killed while the remaining 33,500 were injured.

It happens sometimes that a pedestrian must come out from behind a parked car which obstructs the vision of the oncoming motorist. He may be near the crossing. In that case there is only one thing for the pedestrian to do and that is not to step out from behind that car until he has seen that the passage both ways is safe. It is also the duty of the motorist to guard against just such an emergency.

You cannot make children playing on sidewalks think of danger when they dart out in the street itself for a ball, a hoop, or any other plaything. You cannot make some pedestrians take their minds off business when they step from the curb. You cannot make persons cease talking as they go into a situation like this. All are thoughtless. It is the duty of the motorist always to regulate his speed so as to guard against just such a contingency.

Neatly typewritten, it was found by the family beneath the front door. Its receipt was kept secret by the parents and police, and department of justice agents were reported to have been summoned here to make an investigation.

GOPHERS TO GET REAL TEST WHEN THEY MEET PITT

Must Overcome Panthers to Rate Recognition as National Champs

Chicago, Oct. 16—(AP)—Before making a start toward its goal, the Western Conference football championship, Minnesota will take a crack at the national title situation Saturday in clashing with Pittsburgh.

Before the season opened, Minnesota, an almost all-veteran combination which went through the 1933 campaign without a defeat, was made the favorite in the Big Ten race. Nothing has happened since then to lower the Gophers' rating. Pittsburgh, with a soul-satisfying 20 to 6 victory over Southern California racked up, is being hailed as the best in the east.

Minnesota, by playing four ties last year, missed a chance for national recognition, but also took care of Pittsburgh's chances by handing the Panthers their only defeat, 7 to 3, at Minneapolis early in the season.

Overcame Fumbling
Coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota saw Pitt bluster the Trojans, and yesterday put his squad to work on defense measures for Panther passes and running plays. The Gopher attack has shown terrific power in two games this season, being marred only by fumbles. This fault apparently was ironed out last week as Pug Lund, George Rennix, Stan Kostka, Sheldon Biese and the other backs handled the ball cleanly in practice.

Injuries to Captain Russ Fisher and Herman Schneidman, regular backs, in the Nebraska game, caused Coach Ollie Solem to start rebuilding the Iowa backfield. Fisher suffered a knee injury, and Schneidman a dislocated shoulder that may keep him out for the balance of the season.

Purdue also had casualty troubles, with its ace back, Duane Purvis, suffering with a recurrence of an ankle injury.

Hard Work Ordered
Coach Bo McMillen of Indiana started a search to locate capable replacements for the Chicago game, and the Maroons, although victorious over Michigan, went back to hard work as Clark Shaughnessy demanded more speed and polish on offense. Wisconsin stressed running plays in opening drills for Saturday's engagement with Purdue.

At Ohio State, Francis Schmidt drilled his men to smooth up the offense, seeking more variety for use against Colgate. The Michigan squad was given only a light work and Harry Kipke indicated there would be no special preparation for Georgia Tech.

Bob Zuppke gave the Illini squad a holiday, and Northwestern was still enroute from Stanford.

NO OUTSTANDING FOOTBALL TEAM IN MIDWEST YET

Other Sections Have Teams Which Have Commanded Leads

New York, Oct. 16—(AP)—The pages of gridiron history don't tell of a time in the past when so early in the season divisional leaderships are as topsy-turvy as they are in the current college campaign.

Notwithstanding what next Saturday's games might bring forth in the way of additional upsets, the 1934 season, only three weeks old, has produced standout teams in every major section of the country with the exception of the middle west.

Stanford rules on the Pacific coast. The Indians have things pretty much their own way with the Southern California Trojans topped out of the picture by virtue of two successive defeats, and St. Mary's an upset victim of Nevada.

Panthers in East
Pittsburgh's Panthers are kings of the eastern liar, taking over control of the jungle on the vast strength of their 20-6 victory over Southern California last week end.

New Dynasty of Goats Imported at Naval School

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 16—(AP)—A new goat dynasty has been founded at the Naval Academy.

King Bill V, Navy's hardy mascot for years, has passed on to the animal kingdom's happy hunting grounds, and his two heirs, softened by a life of ease, are not robust enough to carry their father's mantle.

So a tough youngster from the western plains has been summoned to become King Bill V. His dingy white coat covered by a gold robe, trimmed in blue with a large gold "N," King Bill roams to sidelines near the Navy bench at football games.

In past years the United States Naval Academy's long line of "Bills" have been born and reared at the Academy dairy. There, amid a princely atmosphere, they have received a regal education to fit them for their reign over the athletic fortunes of the Midshipmen.

But there is no blue blood in that hardy commoner, Bill the Fifth. His registration papers show he came from the Baltimore stockyards. Sandwiched among cattle, he rattled east in a freight car.

The trouble with young Bill is that he hasn't any of the social graces. He's tough and just as rowdy with his Navy associates as with their opponents.

There he inflicts terrific punishment on the tackling dummies and blocking bags. He's young but he's cocky.

"Bring on that Army mule," says King Bill V.

and decisive triumphs over Washington & Jefferson and West Virginia.

Before the season runs out, however, the Panthers' reign will be subjected to challenge from the Princeton Tiger and the Columbia Lion. Princeton, undefeated last season, has played its early games in mid-season form, but the Tiger has not encountered formidable testing opposition of the type that Pitt has met and overpowered. Columbia holds a major victory over Yale.

The situation below the Mason-Dixon line is somewhat of a dog-fight with Tennessee, Duke and Alabama scrapping for the bone. Duke conquered the one-time vaunted Georgia Technicians last Saturday. Since Tennessee and Alabama have yet to be tested, Duke holds a slight edge.

Rice, Texas Standouts
Rice and Texas are standouts in the seething southwest. Rice has played four games to Texas' two and each numbers a big-team among its victims, the Purdue Boilermakers losing to Rice, and Notre Dame dropping a 7-6 decision to Texas, which also overhauled an inferior Oklahoma team last Saturday on the same day Rice cut down the Southern Methodist Mustangs.

Matters in the middle west are oiled like an upset tray of type. Big names are being bowled down with the ease of a boy knocking over wooden soldiers. Fighting for top place are Illinois, Minnesota, Chicago and Michigan State, with Notre Dame and Nebraska lurking in the background.

Holy Mount of Croagh Patrick
The holy mountain of Croagh Patrick was where Ireland's patron saint spent forty days in penance fasting and praying some 1,500 years ago. It has indentations supposed to have been made by his knees.

Avoid Laxatives That Constipate!

Ever hear of "cathartic constipation?" Medicine laxatives cause it. Most of them work by irritating the membranes of the digestive tract—and when taken regularly lose their effect. Soon the laxative-constipation habit has you in its grip!

That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is no drug or medicine laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour. It cannot give you the laxative habit!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. It promptly opens the pylorus valve—permitting the flush to enter the intestines without anxious hours of waiting.

The proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—is practically tasteless. Take it whenever sluggish—get results within an hour—and end that laxative habit! In two sizes: Splits (8 ounces), 25c—large bottles (3 times the quantity), 50c. At all druggists.

When This Owner is on Winning End He Makes It Count Well

New York, Oct. 16—(AP)—Leo Rosenberg, New York cotton broker, does not win many races with his horses but when he does, he makes them count.

Two years ago he sent out Kerry Patch to win the $100,000 Futurity at Belmont Park at the long odds of 30 to 1. Yesterday he won his first race of 1934 when Dowdy Dell accounted for the Ardley Handicap at the opening of Empire City and again the odds were 30 to 1.

Crisler in Favor of More and More Goals from Field

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16—(AP)—H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, head football coach at Princeton University, is in favor of more and better field goals. He would widen the goal posts to eight feet and lower the cross bar, but still leave the posts ten yards back of the goal line.

If that did not produce a field goal revival, he would increase the value to more than the present three points. Crisler told some 50 sports writers yesterday he planned to submit the changes to the rules committee next winter.

HORNER STARTS STUMPING TOUR FRIDAY EVENING

Will Visit Districts in Which Contests are the Hottest

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 16—(AP)—Governor Horner will start a campaign trip this week, speaking in downstate districts where his Democratic organization is trying to elect more than one state representative.

A schedule of six speeches, starting at Kankakee Friday night, was announced for the Governor by Democratic state headquarters today.

Plans are being formulated for Horner to make stump appearances in several other districts where Republican legislative victories would detract seriously from the support the state administration hopes to receive from the 59th General Assembly.

The first gubernatorial campaign address will be made Friday night at the Kankakee armory. Other speeches on his schedule are:

October 23—LaSalle.
October 25—Kewanee, 7 P. M.

Galesburg, 8:45 P. M.

October 27—Freeport.

November 2—Jacksonville.

Double Contests

Every city in which Horner is slated to appear is in a senatorial district in which both parties are striving to elect two of the three state representatives. There are senatorial contests also in the LaSalle, Kewanee, Galesburg and Jacksonville districts.

The House contest is unusually close this year, with both sides hoping for a majority that will probably be small.

In the Kankakee district the Democrats in 1932 elected the Senator but only one representative, James D. Burns, a crusader for economy. His running-mate is former Representative Ben W. Alpinier of Kankakee.

Two veteran Republicans, R. G. Soderstrom and O. E. Benson, are again running for the House from LaSalle county. One must be defeated if the Democrats are to get two of the three posts. While speaking there, the Governor will have a chance to urge the defeat of the Republican Senator, Noah M. Mason, who has been one of his severe critics.

The Kewanee and Galesburg districts also are classified as normally Republican, only one Democrat going to the House from each at the last election. The only incumbent Democrat running in the two districts is Frank McClure of Abingdon, who refused to vote for many administration bills last year. One of the Republican candidates is Fred F. Cutler of Lewistown, a prominent House figure during the 20's.

There also are the Republican Senators—Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton and Clinton L. Ewing of Douglas—are seeking second terms.

In Freeport District
At Freeport also the Democrats elected only one representative in 1932, although they took the senatorship.

The Jacksonville-Springfield district is another in which both parties put up two men for the three House seats and in which a hot campaign is being waged. One Democrat and two Republicans are the incumbent nominees.

Also up for re-election is Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, one of the Republican leaders in the upper House.

At Jacksonville the Governor also will have opportunity to speak a word for Scott W. Lucas, the Democratic nominee for the Rainey seat in Congress. The Republican candidate lives in Jacksonville.

SUICIDE STRIKE ENDS; OWNER OF MINE GIVES IN

Many of 1,200 Hungarian Miners Emerge from Mine Shaft

Pecs, Hungary, Oct. 16—(AP)—

Hundreds of coal miners came back from the depths of the earth and despair today to sunshine and a future of more pay and more work. They were the major part of 1,200 men who went down the shafts nearly five days ago resolved to starve themselves to death in a mass suicide if their demands for an improved livelihood were not met.

Some of them came out on stretchers. Behind they left comrades, too near death to be moved, some of them dead.

Eluding in the early morning sunlight, the half-starved men staggered from the mouth of the mine into the arms of overjoyed wives who were waiting, as they have been for five days, with food. Those who were able to accept food. For 110 hours the men had remained deep in the earth, sending back word they preferred death to surrender. They wanted more money and more work than the $2.00 and two days weekly they have been getting.

Accept Compromise
With fanatical zeal they rejected pleas sent down by a frantic government and food offered by more frantic wives. But this morning a compromise was accepted.

Mine owners and the government reached an agreement. Peace was declared. The miners were allowed by the strikers' guards to go below with the offer and the men debated. At daylight they came out.

All their demands were not met, but the strikers got their main objectives: they will be given fall and winter raises, more days of work, and the company agreed not to discriminate against them.

Government troops stood behind machine guns as the men emerged, but there was no disorder. Today this mining town celebrated for the most heart-rending experience in its history was over.

Only a few hours before the settlement, the desperate miners threatened to kill General Janos Esterhazy, member of parliament who tried to mediate with them.

After one trip down, he was warned not to make another or "you won't return."

Clerks' Strike at W. Frankfort Fails

West Frankfort, Ill., Oct. 16—(AP)—Efforts of William F. White, commissioner of conciliation of the U. S. Department of Labor, failed today to end a strike of union clerks, effective in principal stores here since Sept. 6.

Proposals of arbitration, to which merchants agreed at a conference of clerks and merchants with White Saturday afternoon had not been accepted by the clerks union today and picketing of stores affected by the strike continued.

The strike was called over the demands of merchants for an 8 o'clock closing privilege on Saturday nights in return for retail code provisions of six hour reduction in the clerks' work week for the Saturday night.

The clerks are protesting the changing of the 6 o'clock Saturday closing provision in effect the past ten years.

EPISCOPALEANS URGE EDUCATION FOR MARRIAGE

Held Only Hope of Sanctifying Wedding, Report

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 16—(AP)—The nation's Episcopal leaders studied today the report of their joint commission on marriage urging education for marriage as the only way to combat a world increase in divorce.

"It seems clear that the only hope of sanctifying marriage is by an educative process," the report said.

"The western church has worked under the present restrictive canon for centuries but nevertheless the divorce rate continues to increase all over the world, especially in the United States, but in England and Canada as well.

"The educative attitude is so new that we cannot yet look for results but experience seems to make it clear that all hope of progress in our civilization lies along educative lines.

"Our Eighteenth Amendment and the carnage by automobiles afford abundant evidence that laws are impotent unless based on public opinion."

Hutchins, Chicago U.
Head, Expected to Get Appointment

Washington, Oct. 16—(AP)—There were reports today that President Roosevelt may choose Robert M. Hutchins to find a new approach to the "chisel" problem.

The 35-year-old president of the University of Chicago was mentioned as a possible choice for the task of giving industries larger responsibilities in enforcing their codes.

Hutchins conferred with the President yesterday. There were indications that the White House might make a statement today.

After the President and his recovery board discussed the compliance problem yesterday, it was made clear that Roosevelt desires code authorities, elected by the industries themselves, to take the leadership in curbing violators.

The recovery board has placed enforcement at the head of its list of problems. It believes the system will stand or fall as it succeeds or fails in getting code members to live up to obligations.

Seek Coordination
Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, said:

"The President and the board want to give industry a chance to clean out the chisels."

Hutchins' legal training and his detached educational background led many observers to believe that the President might put him in charge of reorganizing the enforcement of NRA.

In the past, with enforcement of NRA provisions handled largely by governmental agencies, there has been a lack of complete coordination in the work. The justice department on two occasions has declined to prosecute firms which lost the blue eagles for alleged violation of codes.

The high command of the industry recovery drive recently moved to obtain closer coordination by the Federal Trade Commission, the department of justice and NRA.

Funeral Thursday
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 16—(AP)—The body of King George, fourth of King George of England, and his fiancée, Princess Marina of Greece, arrived unobtrusively today for the funeral of King Alexander.

The couple departed immediately for Dedine to visit the child king Peter II and his widowed mother, the Dowager Queen Marie.

Alexander's body, which arrived from Split shortly after last midnight, will lie in state until the funeral service Thursday.

Half a million Yugoslavs and nearly every European nation, including many noblemen, crowded Belgrade today.

After a brief religious service, during which Marie and Peter II prayed beside the coffin, Alexander's body was taken to a catafalque of the old royal palace. Later today it will be transferred to a sarcophagus made by an Austrian firm and almost a replica of the one in which the late Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria, whose murder touched off the World War, was placed.

Subjects of the late king will be allowed to file past his body in the marble hall of the palace beginning tomorrow.

All Belgrade was in deep mourning. King Carol of Rumania, brother-in-law of Alexander, was to arrive today from Bucharest by train.

RAMIFICATIONS OF ASSASSIN'S PLOT REVEALED

Whereabouts of Leader of Terrorists are Reported Known

BULLETIN

Melun, France, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Surete Nationale announced today that M. Kral, alias Sylvester Malny, alias Chaly, had confessed he was sent to Marseille with "Petrus Kalemene" to assassinate King Alexander of Yugoslavia.

Melun, France, Oct. 16—(AP)—Valuable information concerning the international ring of plotters which delivered death to King Alexander of Yugoslavia was drawn today from the third man to be held for the Marseilles assassinations.

French and Yugoslav detectives said their belief that the gang engaged in widespread machinations was confirmed by a seven hour grilling of Sylvester Malny.

The whereabouts of Dr. Ante Pavelich, described as the director of the plot, are known to Yugoslav authorities, police said, and they are closing in on him. A woman accomplice is being traced from Paris.

"The case is in fine shape," said Chief Simonevitch of the Yugoslav Surety.

Driven from Forest
A five day search for Malny ended yesterday when he was seized after hunger and thirst drove him from Fontainebleau forest.

The detectives said he finally admitted that he was sent to Marseilles to take the place of Petrus Kalemene, Alexander's assassin, if Kalemene lost his nerve. But it was indicated that Malny was not in Marseilles at the time.

Malny first insisted that he was a chauffeur and had come to France in search of work. Chief Simonevitch, however, took charge of the questioning, started at Malny and said:

"This is not a mistake. We are old acquaintances."

Malny's insistence that he knew nothing of the plot was soon broken and he talked freely, admitting that he went to Marseilles carrying two pistols and two bombs.

The officers were unable to draw from him what he did there, or how and when he departed.

Showed No Emotion
A photograph of the assassination was shown to him, but he displayed no emotion.

Chief Simonevitch said Malny was a Yugoslav, named M. Kral, who had worked as a chauffeur in Belgrade and obtained useful information about King Alexander and others.

Malny arrived at a Paris hotel September 28, police said, accompanied by a "strikingly beautiful" woman. They registered as "M. and Mme. Jean Vandracek of Trieste."

Malny left the hotel Oct. 5, and the woman followed him the next day. It is she who is being hunted.

Pavelich disappeared, police said, as soon as orders had been sent to the murder squad, described as "dull" fellows enmeshed as mere tools of the terrorist association, to kill the king.

The Friday evening meeting will be open to the public, and parents and teachers are urged to bring their leisure time activities for young people are cordially invited. A feature of this meeting will be a dramatic presentation of the program given by local Camp Fire Girls, Miss Demota, of the national Camp Fire staff, who is directing the course, will give the key speech of the evening, speaking on "Leisure Time Activities as Constructive Force in Character Building."

There will be an exhibit of Camp Fire handicraft and other program materials prepared at the national headquarters, as well as an exhibit of the work of local Camp Fire Girls.

The course will continue through Saturday, with meetings at the township high school. At the morning sessions, which will open at 10 A. M. and close at noon, there will be demonstrations of handicraft and a discussion of the philosophy of the Camp Fire Girls program, and the unique use of Indian symbolism, for which the organization is noted. Singing will be a feature of the afternoon session, opening at 2:00 P. M. and closing at 4:45. There will also be talks on the decoration of the ceremonial gown, and on the organization of activities, a study of the exhibits, and individual conferences. At the fourth session to be held on Saturday evening from 7:00 to 8:15 there will be talks on program planning, and on ceremonial meetings, singing and the awarding of honors to those who attend the course.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When DAN BLEEKER, junior publisher of The Blade, learns that CHARLES FISHER, reporter, has been mysteriously killed he determines to employ SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminalologist, to solve the murder.

Morden had been assigned to learn all he could about FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, who had threatened to sue The Blade because the newspaper reported Cathay had been arrested. Later it was proven that the man arrested, giving the name of Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS, was an impostor. MRS. CATHAY accuses Bleeker's boy and will drop the charges if The Blade publishes a retraction, and this is done.

A day later Morden is found dead. Shortly afterward comes the news that Cathay is dead—possibly of poison.

GriFF undertakes the case. He goes to see DR. COOPER, one of two doctors attending Cathay. Dr. Cooper refuses to make any statements.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XI

CHUCKLING to himself, Sidney Griff went to the office of Dr. Amstead, the physician who signed Frank Cathay's death certificate.

It pleased Dr. Amstead to surround himself with an air of professional dignity and his appearance was inspiring associated with the insignia of his profession.

A round, polished mirror was strapped about the middle of his forehead—a concave mirror with a hole in the center, to accommodate the pupil of the doctor's eye when it became necessary to throw reflected light down the throat of some patient.

Dr. Amstead was attired in a white robe and the atmosphere about him was impregnated with the smell of medicinal antiseptics. His eyes were not quite so steady as those of Dr. Cooper and were far less thoughtful. His cheeks were high. His figure was tall and gaunt and he had a catfish mouth.

"What can I do for you Mr. Griff?" he inquired.

"You can discuss the Cathay case," said Sidney Griff.

By John Newcomer

In selecting a dairy heifer there are many problems that face the boy or girl. The breed of calf depends upon the person's choice. There are five breeds that are classed as dairy breeds, they are: Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Jersey, Guernsey and Holstein. There is no "best" breed of dairy cattle. Each breed has its good and weak points. The breed that one likes best is usually the best for him to choose. However, if one has no decided preference there are advantages in selecting calves of the breed that predominates in the community. It is best to select purebred registered calves. One will probably take more pride and interest in a good pure-bred calf than in a grade.

Calves, four to eight months old, yearlings or two year old heifers may be used to start the project, but young animals, four to eight months old are greatly preferred for this work. Calves of this age are usually more easy to locate than older animals and they are more interesting for boys than are older animals. The calves should be dropped between Aug. 1 and Feb. 1 in order to meet the age requirements for showing in the club and open classes at various fairs. When calves are bought care should be taken to avoid losses from infectious diseases, such as contagious abortion, and tuberculosis. The danger of losses from contagious abortions may be greatly reduced if heifers under eight months of age are secured. To avoid getting calves infected with tuberculosis, they should be selected from tuberculin tested herds that are free from this disease.

After having made every effort to secure healthy calves it would be foolish to place them on farms where they might contract the diseases they had thus far escaped. Calves should not be brought to farms where the herd has not been tested for chances of infecting the calf and losing her are too great. It should be the desire of a club member to use his heifer as a foundation for a dairy herd. It takes time to develop a good herd and the club member has the opportunity to start while he is young even though it is with only one heifer. The practice of breeding a herd has many advantages. It is much easier to improve a herd in both production and type through the use of a pure bred sire retaining the good heifers in the herd than by buying cows. The practice of buying cows is responsible in a large measure for the spread of contagious abortion and tuberculosis. Dairymen find it easier to keep their herds free from disease when they raise their own cows. The cheapest way to get a good herd is to raise it.

The dairy calf club is ideal in its accomplishments when the club members develop into leaders in their communities and succeed in founding good dairy herds.

Ogle Co. Farm Bureau Affairs

A summary of the vote taken at 11 meetings in Ogle County shows 77 per cent of the votes in favor of a corn-hog program for next year, including the votes of both signers and non-signers of 1934 contracts.

On Question No. 2, regarding one-contract per farm arrangement beginning in 1936, the vote was 64.2 per cent in favor. On Question No. 1 there were 666 votes cast. Of contract signers there were 513 votes "yes" and 117 votes "no." Of non-signers there were 15 votes "yes" and 21 votes "no." On Question No. 2, there were a total of 618 votes cast. Of the signers there were 397 votes "yes" and 190 votes "no." Of the non-signers 12 voted "yes" and 19 voted "no."

It appears that a very substantial majority of the farmers of Ogle County recognize the value of a control program for agricultural production. And while many are favorable to simplifying the program for future years by a one-contract per farm arrangement, it appears that there were some who feel that 1936 is still too far away for them to know definitely what they will want at that time.

No corn-hog allotment regular payment checks have been received in Ogle County, but the first installment of them are expected in a few days.

TO FURNISH FODDER

There will be an opportunity for Ogle County farmers having a surplus of fodder to make application at the Farm Bureau Office to supply it for emergency relief use through the government program.

Corn Belt Farmers Are About 2 to 1 in Favor of Corn Hog Contracts

BY REUBEN FRODIN
Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Farmers by their own ballot are overwhelmingly in favor of continuation of the agricultural adjustment administration's corn-hog program for another year.

Nearly complete returns from 500,000 farmers showed today a 2 to 1 vote of approval on the controversial production-control feature of the AAA in a poll of the big corn producing states conducted by county extension agents.

The corn-hog program provides that farmers who reduce their corn acreage and limit hog production will receive government benefits which so far in 1934 have amounted approximately to $70,000,000.

Sixteen states which already have balloted recorded a 327,797 to 166,362 vote in favor of the 1935 program. A second question on the "one-contract-per-farm" plan for 1936 received an adverse vote—232,999 against and 229,480 for.

Two States Oppose

Two states, Kansas and Nebraska were unfavorable to the continuation of the AAA program next year. Six states, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, Ohio and Wisconsin voted against the one-contract—the adverse vote recorded being enough to overbalance the favorable margins of nine other states.

North Dakota returns have not yet been tabulated.

The government in this plan is not actually buying the fodder, but will find places for it to be used and advise where each farmer should send his fodder, with sight draft attached to bill of lading to guarantee payment on delivery.

Ogle County has not been assigned a quota, but in case enough fodder is available in this county there may be a quota given us later. Anyone who wishes to sell fodder may come to the Farm Bureau Office and sign an application, giving his name and address and the amount of fodder or stover that he will bale and deliver if called for. Nothing less than ten tons, which is a minimum car, will be accepted.

It may be baled whole or shredded and baled, or threshed and baled. If the ears are husked out it will be classed as stover and the price offered is $7.50 for whole stalks baled and $8.50 for shredded stover baled, providing that it grades No. 1. The No. 2 grade will be 50 cents per ton less. Fodder containing some corn will be priced at stover prices, plus the estimated market value of the corn contained. No. 1 fodder or stover must be green to greenish yellow with practically all the leaves attached to the stalk. It must be sound and sweet, well cured and containing not more than a trace of foreign material. No. 2 must have the majority of leaves attached, but may be yellow to yellowish brown in color; must be well cured and may include not more than 10 per cent of foreign material.

If a sufficient amount of fodder or stover is available information will be given later as to method of baling. Fodder, however, should be cut at once, if it has not already been cut, if it is to be in good condition to quality.

Give 'Em a Chance

(By P. L. Sanford.)
Formerly Prof. Poultry Extension Pa. St. College.)

Pullets all over the land are being placed in the laying house or have been placed therein within the last several weeks. Among those that have been brought in are a certain number in every flock which are timid and afraid of their pen mates. These timid pullets spend considerable of their time on the perches where they feel they are safe from others. They dart down to get a few drops of water and grab a few mouthfuls of feed and they then run the perimeter to get back where it is safe. Each of their would-be friends give them a peck to hasten them on their way.

These pullets represent real potential layers if they are but given a chance. Separating them when they are housed or as they are observed in the house so that they may be gathered together in a pen of perhaps fewer numbers and less aggressive individuals will enable them to blossom out and take their rightful place in the production game.

Frequently these pullets can later be readmitted to the general flock after their confidence and courage has been built up. This practice simple as it sounds is worth dollars to any poultryman.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Perhaps you haven't even thought of Thanksgiving yet. But the people who buy carloads of poultry for the holidays are already talking about it.

A lot of them were here in Chicago last week for the National Poultry, Butter and Egg convention and whenever three or four of them got together they immediately started talking over the prospects for the Thanksgiving poultry business.

Those who have been around the country say that in the sections which suffered from the drought there are about 40 per cent fewer ducks and geese.

So it looks as if ducks and geese might sell well this year.

You have to remember, of course, that in the country "the Thanksgiving market" comes two or three weeks before the holiday itself.

That much time has to be allowed for the poultry to be dressed, shipped to the cities, and distributed to the different butcher shops.

So if you have any ducks or geese, it's not too soon for you to start getting them ready for market because you will want to sell them in a very few weeks now.

Specials Farms for Turkeys

As for turkeys, so far as you are concerned, there is only one cloud hanging over the market, which otherwise looks good.

You know that in the last few years a lot of turkey farms have been established. As a matter of fact, you probably have helped to set some of these people up in business—whether you realized it or not, because the government has collected taxes from you and turned around and loaned the money to some of these big turkey raisers.

Maybe you don't like that idea. I shouldn't think you would. But that's what has been done.

And there is no question but what the turkeys they raise are wonderful.

They are fed more carefully. I sometimes think, than we feed our children. And they are penned up and not allowed much range. So they grow very rapidly. The ones that are arriving on the market now (and several carloads of them are coming every week) will weigh right around 17 pounds. There is nothing immature about them, either, even if they are sold so early.

Don't Sell Immature Birds

If you have turkeys that are fully developed, I would say by all means sell them for Thanksgiving.

But, as you know, most of the turkeys that are raised on general farms are hardly ready for market this early. They are still rangey, the meat is stringy and, because the feathers aren't "ripe", a lot of pin feathers are left, which makes the birds unattractive and undesirable.

Such turkeys put on the market with birds from specialized turkey farms will not bring as good a price as they do.

So if you have turkeys that aren't yet mature, don't be in any hurry to sell them. Plan to have them ready for the Christmas market.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Priebe

HORSES PROVE THEY'RE NOT TO BE SHELVED YET

Pulling Contests are One
Proof of Worth of Good Horses

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 16.—Horses are far from through as a source of farm power judging from the way they came to the front in horse-pulling contests which the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois held throughout the state this summer and fall. More Illinois teams made good records than at any time in the past eight years, it is reported by E. T. Robbins, livestock extension specialist, who was in charge of the contests.

Although the state records established last year remained unbroken, three Illinois teams during the season just closed lifted 3000 pounds the full distance of 27½ feet, or the equivalent of pulling six 14-inch plows turning furrows six inches deep in stubble ground. One of these teams was a 3800-pound pair owned by Charles Lett, of Sandwich; the second team, weighing 3930 pounds, was owned by Homer Crawford, of Pontiac, while the third team to pull the full distance was a pair weighing 3100 pounds, owned by Gordon Warters, of Allerton. This team lifted 97 per cent of its own weight.

Few teams have set as good a record, it is said.

In the Century of Progress contest at Chicago the best pulling teams from other states competed with the Illinois entries. In this event the Homer Crawford team won third prize, while a team owned by Willard Rhoads, of Springfield, placed fourth. First and second awards went to two Ohio teams owned by Statler Farms and George Manley, respectively.

One hundred seventeen teams tested their strength against the dynamometer in the nine contests held at Chicago, Newman, Springfield, St. Joseph, Roseville, Sandwich, Bridgeport, Tuscola and Petersburg. The contests were part of studies which the U. of I. agricultural experiment station is making of factors influencing the pulling ability of draft horses and the type of animals that are the most efficient in pulling heavy loads. Fifty-five of the teams taking part in this year's series of contests weighed 3000 pounds or more, while 62 were in the lightweight class of less than 3000 pounds.

During the nine years that horse-pulling contests have been held in Illinois, a total of 1297 teams have competed in 93 different events. The all-time records were set in 1933 by two teams owned by William Rhoads of Springfield. In the light class a Rhoads' team weighing less than 3000 pounds pulled a lift of 2625 pounds, while in the heavy class their stallions set a record of 3225 pounds.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY
New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels. Wheat decreased 2,151,000; corn decreased 561,000; oats increased 157,000; rye decreased 280,000; barley increased 237,000.

Bonus Issue Will Not be Tabooed at Legion Convention

Miami, Fla., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The nation's 830,000 Legionnaires have the promise of National Commander Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, Ill., that the bonus question will not be "steam-rolled" when the sixteenth annual American Legion convention opens here a week from Monday.

Hayes, in Miami with the headquarters staff to prepare for the four day meeting which is expected to bring between 75,000 and 100,000 ex-service men here, said: "Every man on the convention floor who wants to talk on the bonus will get the opportunity to do so."

He vouchsafed no prediction as to the assembly's probable action on the bonus question.

Government Evades Court Test of Air Mail Cancellation

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The government succeeded Monday in the Supreme Court in turning back an attack on the constitutionality of the cancellation of airmail contracts last February.

The court refused to review a case brought by Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc. Lower courts had held it must be dismissed because the government could not be sued without its consent. Their decision stands.

In addition, the court refused to aid Alphonse Capone, convicted Chicago gangster recently removed to the Alcatraz federal penitentiary, in his effort to obtain freedom, by declining to review the refusal of lower courts to release him.
